Headline:
Showers expected through the day with thundery downpours possible.

Today:
Some sunny spells although plenty of showers. There'll be some heavy downpours, possibly thundery especially across the north of the country. Breezy winds, particularly in the north and around the coast. Feeling cool during the blustery periods. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers will ease in the south and east to give some clearer spells for a while overnight. However, blustery downpours will continue in the northwest, becoming more widespread again overnight. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Saturday:
Showers will remain widespread through Saturday with some locally heavy and thundery outbreaks possible. Coastal locations will experience the strongest winds although other areas blustery at times too. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Somewhat drier with scattered showers on Sunday, becoming more isolated into Monday with some sunny spells possible. Turning drier Tuesday with plenty of sunny spells, and feeling pleasant in sunshine.
